

ECOWAS COMMISSION
COMMISSION DE LA CEDEAO
COMISSÃO DA CEDEAO

JOINT POST-ELECTION PRESS STATEMENT BY THE ECOWAS AND AFRICAN UNION ELECTION OBSERVATION MISSIONS TO THE 2023
GENERAL ELECTIONS IN LIBERIA

11 OCTOBER 2023

1. The ECOWAS and the African Union Election Observation Missions to the Liberia 10 October 2023 General Elections commend the government and people of Liberia for the generally peaceful elections of 10th October 2023.
2. The Missions express admiration for the voters' discipline, patience and peaceful conduct, in spite of the long queues observed in most precincts. They particularly commend the women and the youth for their show of patriotism and commitment to democracy by turning out in large numbers to vote.
3. The Missions also commend the National Elections Commission for the generally professional conduct on the voting process on E-day and Laud the Joint Security Task Force for ably providing election security.
4. The Missions continue to urge NEC to maintain high level of transparency, accountability and openness in the expectations management of the results collation, tallying and announcement of final results.
5. The Missions urge the media, political parties and candidates to avoid the temptation to call the elections results ahead of NEC's declaration.
6. Finally, the ECOWAS and AU appeal to the people of Liberia to exercise maximum patience and remain calm while awaiting the declaration of the final results.

Done at Monrovia, this day, 11th October 2023
Monrovia - Liberia

Prof. Attahiru Jega

Former Chairman Independent National Electoral Commission, Federal Republic of Nigeria,
Head of Mission,
ECOWAS Election Observation Mission

H.E. Phumzile Mlambo - Ngcuka

Former Deputy President of South Africa,
Member of the African Union Panel of the Wise,
Head of Mission,
African Union Election Observation Mission